ATONEMENT AND NON-RESISTANCE. By William E. Wilson, author of "Christ and War." London: Headley Bros. 1914. 52 pp. Price, six pence, net, paper; one shilling, cloth.

This brochure is an attempt to show why the death of Christ was necessary, with suggestions as to its bearing on Christian ethics. In the preface Henry T. Hodgkin states that, in view of the terrible war now going on, "the conviction is forced upon us that had the church been truly Christian these things could never have happened. . . . The church has persistently attempted to enthrone righteousness and truth by the method of force." The author discusses God's method of dealing with evil as seen in the death of Christ. He believes that in that death we see proved Jesus' own message of non-resistance.

WHAT MAKES A NATION GREAT? By Frederick Lynch. 1914. New York: F. H. Revell Co. 75 cents, net.

Dr. Lynch discusses in clear and convincing language nine propositions which he lays down as essential to a nation's greatness. That nation will be the greatest, he claims, which best cares for its citizens; which gives to the world great men and produces the highest type of manhood; which teaches some great truth—and is not it our country's mission to teach how men may dwell together as brothers, regardless of race; which has the courage to place its trust in justice instead of in force; leads the way in practicing the "new patriotism"; leads the other nations into a new world-order; practices hospitality to all races; first learns stewardship; practices real democracy. Chapters IV, V, and VI are real additions to the literature of the peace movement, as here Dr. Lynch discusses a nation's true defense, the power of treaties, and the new internationalism.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE AT THE HAGUE, AND ITS BEARINGS ON INTERNATIONAL LAW AND POLICY. By Frederick W. Holls. N. Y.: Macmillan and Company. 1914. New edition. 572 pages. $4.00 net.

This new edition of the scholarly work of Mr. Holls on the First Hague Conference will be welcomed. The call for it has been sufficient to justify the publishers in issuing another edition. Perhaps no other account has so much interest for American readers, because of the fact that Mr. Holls was one of the American delegates and secretary of our delegation at the conference.

The following books have been received and will be reviewed as soon as space permits:
